Course Description

Join artists Melinda Forbes & Julie Frankel for a 2 day workshop focused on recycling, rethinking, and recreating your wardrobe. Learn creative approaches to design using garments rescued from the back of your closet, thrift shops, and garage sales. Techniques to incorporate beautiful lace fragments and linens will also be explored-of course!

Saturday morning begins with clothing swap and perusal of the Museum's offerings. This will be followed by a simple apron making project designed to get you comfortable with cutting & fitting. You will have the opportunity to start a personal project with the clothing you've brought and/or picked up in our swap.

Melinda & Julie always have fun working & teaching together. We offer a unique way of looking at what we already have at hand, how to make our clothing special. Our work has been shown in Museums & Galleries in Central California and most recently was featured at Fashion Week El Paseo in Palm Desert. We have taught many classes together and we love helping students discover their own creative process.
